Dear Colleagues,

The International Society of University of Colon & Rectal Surgeons (ISUCRS) will be hosting the 29th ISUCRS Biennial Congress in London, UK from Aug. 29th - Sept.1st, 2018. This promises to be an outstanding scientific gathering of colorectal surgeons from all over the world.

The meeting will be held at Bush House, a Grade II listed building which is located in an ideal central location of London, The Strand. The building was recently acquired by King's College London and was previously the headquarters of the BBC World Service.

Highlights for the meeting include:

Presentations for:

- Angelita Habr-Gamma Pioneer in Colorectal Surgery Award
- The Fumio Konishi Excellence in Clinical or Research Award
- The Jae Gab Park for Outstanding Contribution to Colon and Rectal Surgery Award
- The ISUCRS Master of Coloproctology Award
- The Bacon Lecture
- The ISUCRS Pioneer in Surgery Award

There will be a parallel session for free original scientific paper & video presentations, poster presentation.

Awards will be made for best original scientific oral and poster presentations.

We would also hold a number of coloproctological courses and workshops.

Currently, we have a Super Early Bird Registration Fees of £280 and £160 for consultants and trainees respectively. Workshop fees will range from £40-80. These fees will be maintained until Monday, February 5th, 2018.

ISUCRS are also currently negotiating reduced hotel accommodation (from approximately £250 total for 3 nights)
